SAFEcert is a national organization that operates 1-2 chapters per state

> We offer a free training curriculum, making use of online training videos and quizzes, which are adapted to fit the needs of the types of businesses we certify.

We teach businesses about service animals, the federal and state laws that pertain to them, how to act around service animals and their handlers, and how to respond to conflicts between store patrons and handlers.

> Puppy raisers, service dog trainers, and handlers can provide feedback on their experiences in a business or volunteer to become an undercover tester to certify businesses.

SAFEcert trains and certifies businesses as service dog friendly in order to help service animal trainers avoid harassment and distraction while completing public access training.

Parental Paula

Paula is an experienced puppy raiser who lacks confidence in her training abilities. Knowing that employees will support her and are trained to notice when dogs aren't well behaved boosts her confidence and reassures her that she is doing well when her dogs are acting properly in the space.

As a self trainer-handler who already struggles with her dog making her invisible disablity visible, Dani appreciates knowing that she will be welcomed in certified businesses and be able to avoid unwanted attention/questions, even when her dog isn't yet fully trained.

Practical Pierre

Pierre enjoys teaching people about service animals, but while he is out training, he doesn't want his dogs to be distracted by being approached by other patrons. SAFEcert allows him to help raise public awareness by volunteering when he wants to instead of educating people whenever he goes out with his dogs.
